Subject: Further info from GE on Resuspension

I don't have Solomon's email address handy -- somebody please forward to him.

The good news is that Haggard confirms that GE is ok with 21 days at Waterford, instead of 28, when averaging is done the way we have stated (in connection with the 14-day averages at TID).

The bad news is that Connolly has supposedly gone home for the evening without his laptop, and cannot send Solomon the spread sheet for the resuspension graph until tomorrow morning.
